

HOUSE RULES

This establishment is for skeptics, seekers, and folks who realize they've only been hearing one side of the story.
If that is you, pull up a chair.

Share drinks like it's a ritual.

Seek understanding.

We aren't here to score points or win arguments.

Keep it civil.

Claim your truth, but don't degrade others.

Never question the goodwill of the person across the table, even as you tear apart premises, question strategies, and poke holes in the establishment.

Don't blame the system for a culture of division that we help build every day.

Human connection over partisan bickering.

Welcome to the table!
